This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

A Text-Book on Commercial Law.

A Manual of the Fundamental Principles Governing Business Transactions. For the Use of Commercial Colleges, High Schools and Academies. By SALTER S. CLARK, Counsellor-at-Law. Reviser of Young's Government Class-Book. Handsomely printed. 12mo. 300 pp.

The design of the author in this volume has been to present simply, and compactly, the principles of law affecting the ordinary transactions of commercial life, in the form of a Class-book for Schools and Commercial Colleges.

The plan of the book is as follows:

After a short introduction upon the relations of National and State law, and of constitutional, statute, and common law, it is divided into two parts. Part I. treats of principles applicable to all kinds of business, in three divisions, treating respectively of Contracts, Agency and Partnership, with a fourth division embracing the subject of Corporations, and a few others general in their nature. Part II. takes up in order the most prominent kinds of business transactions, paying chief attention to the subjects, Sale of Goods, and Commercial Paper, and is to a large extent an application of the principles contained in the preceding part.

The chief aim has been throughout to make it a book practically useful, and one easily taught, understood and remembered. As subserving those purposes attention may be called to the following features among others:—the use of schemes in graded type, which summarizing a subject impresses it upon the mind through the eye; the summaries of leading rules at different points; a table of definitions; the forms of business papers most frequently met with; and the frequent use of examples and cross-references.

The work is used in nearly all of the leading Commercial Colleges of the country.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

From B. F. Moore, A.M., Pres. Southern Business University, Atlanta, Ga.
I find the work fully adapted for use in business schools as a text book, on account of its conciseness; also to the accountant as a book of reference on points of commercial law and business forms. It is the most complete and concise work on the subject that I have seen.

PREFACE.

"Words give wings to thought."

Is the spelling-book losing ground?—It is said that nineteen-twentieths of those examined for the Public Service under the competitive system in England fail in spelling. Those placed by government in control of educational affairs report, "Spelling is not what it ought to be. Text-books should be used for this subject." "What we want is to teach spelling and not merely to practice spelling." A spelling-book revival in England seems to be the result.

In the foremost educational center of our own country, the experiment of teaching spelling without the aid of a special text-book has been tried with results so far from satisfactory that the spelling-book has been restored. Wherever the subject of spelling has been most seriously considered, a strong reaction in favor of a suitable text-book is evident.

Is there a substitute for the spelling-book?—In the lower primary grades, the work of copying words and sentences from the blackboard and of writing exercises in connection with "oral language-lessons" is undoubtedly far more profitable than conning the "primary speller" as now constructed.

For the more advanced grades, copying from the reading-book, writing compositions, and making abstracts of daily lessons in geography, history, etc., afford good practice in spelling; but will and can the average teacher, without sacrifice of the time belonging to the subject-matter of the "lessons in geography, history, etc.," exercise that unremitting vigilance in criticism, correction, and recorrection which is necessary to make these "abstracts" in any measure a substitute for daily exercises in the spelling, pronunciation, and use of short lists of judiciously selected words?

There are certain difficulties in spelling which are well known to be common and almost universal. So far as these are found in words that are, or should be, in the pupil's vocabulary, is it not more economic to meet them directly and persistently than to wait for them to occur incidentally at long intervals in the work of copying or of general composition?

This book was made with the conviction:—

1. That the faults of the average spelling-book could be avoided, and that a book of word-lessons could be made so interesting and suggestive as to become an indispensable aid in the all-important work of learning to express thought correctly.

2. That the pronunciation and use of words should be taught in connection with their spelling.

3. That, after excluding the unusual words of the "old-time speller," more than one-half of the modern spelling-book words should be dropped as not likely to be misspelled by the average learner.

4. That all exercises should be graded with reference to the natural growth of the child's vocabulary.

5. That there should be variety in the character of the lessons and in the methods of classification.

6. That the principles of association, or of comparison and contrast, should be regarded in meeting such difficulties as arise from the use of different symbols for the same or similar sounds.

7. That the "homonyms" are among the most useful and most troublesome words in the language.*

8. That, as the child is likely to carry through life what is copied or repeated from school books, illustrative sentences should, as far as possible, present the richest thoughts and the choicest gems of expression that can be gathered from literature.

9. That pupils in the common school should be so introduced to the study of word-analysis that they will be encouraged to consult the dictionary for the derivation of words, and to trace the links connecting the original with the current meaning.†

10. That there is no more valuable intellectual discipline than the study of synonyms, and that a series of lessons may be so presented as to lead the pupil almost unconsciously into the habit of weighing words and making nice, yet sound, distinctions.‡

---

* See pp. 15, 16, etc. (For the general plan of these elliptical exercises we are indebted to the "Royal School Series.") † See pp. 163, 164, etc. ‡ See pp. 153, 157, etc.

Methods of Teaching Spelling.

Spelling is chiefly a habit of the eye, and is of practical use only in writing. The pupil should therefore be trained to see word-forms correctly, and to reproduce them on the slate or on paper till correct writing becomes easy and natural. The large, clear type, the open page, and the variety of exercises in this book are designed to this end.

For the lower grades, copying the choice selections found in the following pages will afford excellent practice in spelling, and in the use of capital letters and punctuation marks; but such exercises should be subjected to rigid examination, and no careless work should be accepted.

In assigning a lesson the teacher should see that the pupils are able to pronounce all the words correctly, and that they know something of the use of each word. The following lessons are so arranged as to present a thorough and carefully graded course in the principles of pronunciation without defacing the page or confusing the eye to any considerable extent with diacritical marks. The spelling, pronunciation, and use of words are so associated that they can better be taught together than separately. Pupils should be required to illustrate the use of all words except names grouped topically.

The usual method of dictating written exercises in spelling is a good one. The teacher pronounces the words, which the pupils write on their slates or in their blank-books. Slates are then exchanged, and the teacher or one of the pupils gives the correct spelling of each word, while every pupil checks the mistakes found on the slate which he holds. The slates are then returned, the number of errors reported, and corrections made by rewriting the words in a separate column.

It is customary for the teacher to give the illustrative sentences when dictating the words; but the suggestions given in connection with the following lessons will enable the pupils to give the illustrations, which is far better. If the illustrations are given orally, it would be well to have several pupils at the blackboard to write such of the sentences as have particular merit, or such as the teacher may wish to present for criticism.

It is hoped that the character of the illustrative phrases and sentences in this book will aid the teacher in resisting the tendency of pupils to put meaningless, trashy stuff into their exercises. Such examples as the following are too generally encouraged in the text-books: "The bad boy hit the good girl in the eye;" "Pour water on the fire, that Albert may not see to pore over that foolish picture illustrating the pores of the skin;" "The bear tore his bare leg in such a manner that I could not bear to look at it."*

Pupils should be required to keep a list of the words which they misspell, and to rewrite them frequently, in sentences and separately.

Written and oral spelling should be combined. The best results are obtained by addressing both eye and ear.

Oral spelling should be made an aid to correct pronunciation. Pupils should be required to pronounce and spell each word in a clear, natural tone of voice, making a slight pause between the syllables. This is better than the following tedious, confusing process: i-n in c-o-m com incom p-r-e pre incompre h-e-n hen incomprehen s-i si incomprehensi b-l-e ble incomprehensible.

In oral spelling, the teacher may stimulate the interest of the pupils by allowing them to "go up," or to win rank by correcting misspelled words, and an occasional old-fashioned spelling-match will add fresh zeal to the work.

It is believed that the "directions" given in connection with the different lessons throughout this book will aid both teacher and pupil.

In most of the lessons on synonyms the teacher will notice that each group of synonymous words has a certain relation to the following group. This will enable the pupil, in writing illustrative paragraphs, to pass, by an easy transition, from one group to another, weaving the whole into one connected composition. The importance of this work in synonyms can hardly be overestimated.

For suggestions concerning the teaching of word-analysis see p. 163.

* The last two illustrations are typical sentences from a popular English word book—one from which American compilers have drawn most largely.

Lesson 31.

Pronunciation.

To the Teacher.—Children learn to pronounce by imitation. Much will depend on your own practice.

One may be aided in getting an intermediate sound by first giving the two extremes; as, ä, ă, å.

These lessons in pronunciation should be frequently repeated, and correct pronunciation should be insisted on in the pupil's reading, recitation, and conversation.

Direction.—Practice on the following words till the correct pronunciation becomes the natural one.

äunt, ăn, ånt, păth, păt, pâss, bäth, bâsk, bälm, brâss, cälf, câsk,
cälm, câst, gäpe, grâsp, läth, lâst,

Lesson 34.

Pronunciation.

Caution.—The sound of o in these words is between ŏ in nŏt and ą̈ in ą̈ll. Avoid the two extremes; the former is considered pedantic, and the latter vulgar.

Direction.—Practice on these words till the correct pronunciation becomes the natural one.

off, scoff, cof'fee, cof'fin, of'fice, of'fer.
broth, froth, cloth, soft, loft, lost,
cost, frost, oft'en, cross, loss, moss,
toss, gloss, dross, gone, long, prong, song, strong, throng, wrong, mock.

Caution.—ū = yo͞o. After d, t, l, n, and s, it is not easy to give the y sound of ū, so careless speakers say do͞oty and to͞on for dūty and tūne; but some, who are over-nice or affected, say dyo͞oty and tyo͞on, making the y too distinct. Avoid both extremes. Good speakers touch the y very lightly, or, rather, let it sink into a very brief ĕ.

Direction.—In the first six words that follow make the y sound of ū distinct; in the others touch the y (or the ĕ) very lightly.

u'nit, cube, pu'ny, pure, mule, mute, duke, du'ty, ad duce', flute, lu'cid, lure,
nude, nui'sance, sue, su'et, suit,

PART II.

LESSON 81.

Capital Letters—Rules.

Begin with a capital letter—The first word of (1) a sentence, (2) a line of poetry, (3) a direct quotation making complete sense.

Begin with capital letters—(4) Proper names, titles used with them, and words formed from them, (5) names of things personified, (6) names of the months of the year and the days of the week, (7) names of the Deity, (8) principal words in the titles of books, essays, etc.

Write in capital letters—(9) The words I and O, and (10) numbers in the Roman notation.

Examples.—(1, 2) The Lord my pasture shall prepare,
And feed me with a shepherd's care.—Addison.
(3) Solomon says, "How forcible are right words!" (4) Dr. O. W. Holmes, Boston, Mass. American, English. (5) Jocund Day stands tip-toe on the misty mountain top. (6) Monday, January. (7) Most High, Creator. (8) Prescott's History of the Conquest of Mexico, My Walk to School. (9) Then I cried, "O father!" (10) Henry VIII., Louis XVI.

To the Teacher.—Select exercises and require the pupils to give reasons for the use of capitals. Let them write original sentences illustrating the rules above.

Punctuation.

To the Teacher.—By the copying required in Part I., the pupil has become familiar with the more common marks of punctuation. We should give but few formal rules until some progress has been made in the analysis of sentences. Let the pupil give general reasons for the use of marks met with in copying and for those used in his original sentences.

Lesson 82.

Definitions.

A Vowel is a letter that stands for a free, open sound of the voice.

The vowels are a, e, i, o, u, w, and y; w and y are consonants at the beginning of a word or a syllable; as in wet, yet; they are vowels in new, cow, dying, duty, etc.

A Consonant is a letter that stands for a sound made by the obstructed voice or the obstructed breath.

A Diphthong is a union of two vowels in the same syllable, as in *bread.

A Triphthong is a union of three vowels in the same syllable, as in *beau.

A Syllable is one or more letters pronounced by a single effort of the voice.

Accent is stress of voice on a particular syllable of a word.

Examples.—Com pel′ has two syllables, and un neo′es sa ry has five. The little mark placed after pel′ and nec′ indicates accent.

A Monosyllable is a word of one syllable.

A Dissyllable is a word of two syllables.

A Trisyllable is a word of three syllables.

A Polysyllable is a word of more than three syllables.

A Prefix is an addition to the beginning of a word.

A Suffix is an addition to the end of a word.

A Primitive word is one not derived from another word in the same language.

A Derivative word is one derived from another word; as, *un*man*ly*, man being the primitive, or root, word.

A Compound word is one composed of two or more simple words.

---

* h, which represents a mere forcible breathing, is an exception.

Lesson 83.

Classes of Consonants.

Explanation.—The two classes of consonants are here arranged in separate columns. Those in Col. "1" are called vocal consonants (voice consonants), and those in Col. "2" are called aspirates (breath consonants).

The letters with dots between them form pairs. Give the sound of the first letter of any pair, and you will find that, as the voice stops, the vanishing sound will be the sound of the other letter. The tongue, teeth, lips, and palate are in the same position for both, the only difference being that in one there is voice, and in the other only a whisper.

Direction.—Practice on these sounds, giving them first in words and then separately. Do not confuse the name of a letter with its sound.

1 Vocal Consonants.	2 Aspirates.	1 Vocal Consonants.	2 Aspirates.
b	p	r
d	t	th (in thine)	th (in thin) g	k	v	f
	h	w
j	ch	y
l		z (in zone)	s
m		*z (in azure)	sh
n

To the pupil.—c, q, and x are not found in the columns above. c = k or s; q = k; x = ks or gz.

Lesson 84.

Marked Letters—Consonants.

Direction.—Learn what the following marks mean, and practice on the different sounds, first in the word and then separately. Give other words containing these sounds.

ç, soft (= s), in çent.
c, hard (= k), in call.
ch (unmarked) in child.
çh, soft (= sh), in çhaise.
ch, hard (= k), in chorus.
ḡ, hard, in ḡet.
ġ, soft (= j), in ġem.
s, sharp (unmarked), in same.
ş, soft (= z), in haş.
th, sharp (unmarked) in thin.
th, soft or vocal, in this.
n̰ (= ng), in in̰k.
x̱ (= gz), in ex̱ist.

* See note p. 73.

Lesson 85.

To the Teacher.—Explain the meaning of any words with which the pupils may not be familiar, then require oral sentences to illustrate all the words.

*ç soft = s sharp.		-c hard and -ch hard = k.
çen'tral	ser'mon	-cow'ard	-cho'rus

Lesson 86.

* c is soft before e, i, and y.

[1] Pronounced mish'un and con fĕsh'un (one s is silent).

Lesson 88.

To the Teacher.—Explain words not familiar to the pupils, and require illustrations.

con fu'sion	wheeze	quo'rum	al pha bet
ex plō sion	whit'tle	quar ry	e nough'
pleas'ure	whirl i g̃ig̃	que ry	läugh'ter

* x usually has this sound when followed by an accented vowel.

† This vocal consonant is the result of an attempt to sound z and y together (zi and si = zy) (zu = zyoo), and is simply sh made vocal. It is indicated in works on pronunciation by zh, but z and h never come together in the spelling of an English word.

Lesson 91.

shouldn't	two	kicked	fair	kisses
perhaps	waves	screamed	good-by	dozens much	could	dear	meant	blew
ocean	sea	afraid	least	breeze

My dear May,—How do you like the —— ? Not —— ——; it's so big. But —— you like a nice little —— that you —— put into a pan ?

Have the —— ever run over you yet, and turned your little —— shoes into pumps full of water ? Have you been bathed yet in the sea, and were you —— ? I was, the first time ; and —— me, how I —— and —— ! or at —— —— to scream ; but the sea, ships and all, began to run into my mouth, and so I shut it up.

And now, ——. The last —— —— I —— —— of —— for you, but the wind changed, and I am afraid took them all to Miss H., or somebody that it shouldn't.—Hood.

Lesson 92.

Direction.—Copy the following, and study the italicized words.

She was dead. No sleep so beautiful and calm, so free from trace of pain, so fair to look upon. She seemed a creature fresh from the hand of God, and waiting for the breath of life ; not one who had lived, and suffered death. Her couch was dressed with here and there some winter-berries and green leaves, gathered in a spot she had been used to favor. "When I die, put near me something that has loved the light, and had the sky above it always." These were her words.

She was dead. Dear, gentle, patient, noble Nell was dead. Her little bird—a poor, slight thing, the pressure of a finger would have crushed—was stirring nimbly in its cage ; and the strong heart of its child-mistress was mute and motionless forever.—Dickens.—Death of Little Nell.

Lesson 93.

Measures of Time.

hour	sec'ond	dĕc'ade	fôrt'night

Direction.—Copy and study the following.

We live in deeds, not years ; in thoughts, not breaths ;
In feelings, not in figures on a dial.
We should count time by heart-throbs. He most lives
Who thinks most, feels the noblest, acts the best.—P. J. Bailey

Lesson 94.

Direction.—Copy the following, and study the italicized words.

I steal by lawns and grassy plots,
I slide by hazel covers ;
I move the sweet forget-me-nots
That grow for happy lovers.

I slip, I slide, I gloom, I glance,
Among my skimming swallows ;
I make the netted sunbeam dance
Against my sandy shallows.

I murmur under moon and stars
In brambly wildernesses ;
I linger by my shingly bars ;
I loiter round my cresses ;

And out again I curve and flow
To join the brimming river ;—
For men may come, and men may go,
But I go on forever.—Tennyson.—The Brook.

Lesson 104.

Pronunciation.

Direction.—Practice on the following words till you can pronounce them rapidly in succession without error.

Caution.—Final a unaccented has a brief sound of ă in far Avoid ā or ŏ.

A mer'i ca, al'ge bra, al pac'a, Chi'na, com'ma.
Em'ma, ex'tra, mi'ca, so'fa, um brel'la.

Caution.—Avoid adding the sound of r to words like the following; as, sawr 'er for saw her.

awe, claw, draw, gnaw, law, saw,
com'ma, Em'ma, i de'a, po ta'to, so'da.

LESSON 106.

To the pupil.—Contractions like these are allowable in poetry or in familiar speech, but not in formal prose composition.

Direction.—Learn to write these in sentences

ar'n't	e'er	I'd	ne'er
can't	hadn't	I'll	o'er
couldn't	hasn't	I'm	sha'n't
didn't	he'd	I've	'tis
doesn't	he'll	isn't	'twill
don't	he's	ma'am	won't

Pronunciation.—[1] bur jois'. [2] ĭng'glish.

LESSON 107.

Adding Suffixes—Useful Rule.

RULE I.—Final e is dropped before a vowel.

Direction.—Drop the final e from the root-word, and add the suffixes, defining each new derivative as in the model.

Model.*—admired, did admire; admiring, continuing to admire; ad'mi ra ble, fit to be admired; admirer, *one who admires.

(The "model" must be varied to fit the different words and the different meanings of the suffixes.)

ad mire'	+ ed, ing, able, er	blame	+ ed, ing, able ad vise	+ ed, ing, able, er	move	+ ed, ing, able a dore	+ ed, ing, able, er	note	+ ed, ing, able de sire	+ ed, ing, able	val'ue	+ ed, ing, able ex cuse	+ ed, ing, able	cen sure	+ ed, ing, able

(Why is the e not dropped in the following words?)

blame*less,* move*ment,* hate*ful.*

To the Teacher.—Let the pupils construct short oral sentences containing these derivatives.

LESSON 108.

Direction.—Drop the final e and add the suffixes. Define the last six.

plague	+ ed, ing	man'age	+ ed, ing	rogue	+ ish guide	+ ed, ing	fence	+ ed, ing	blue	+ ish grieve	+ ed, ing	scare	+ ed, ing	style	+ ish
judge	+ ed, ing	cease	+ ed, ing	virt'ue	+ ous
o blige'	+ ed, ing	a chieve'	+ ed, ing	sale	+ able e rase	+ ed, ing	re ceive	+ ed, ing	cure	+ able

Lesson 109.

Adding Suffixes—Useful Rule.

RULE II.—In monosyllables and words accented on the last syllable, a final consonant after a single vowel doubles before a suffix beginning with a vowel (x, k, and v are never doubled).

Direction.—Add the suffixes as in preceding lessons. Be sure to double the final consonant of the root-word. Define all derivatives as in preceding "models," except those in ed and ing.

(Why is the final consonant here doubled?)

fat	+ er, est, en	spin	+ ing, er
mad	+ er, est, en	swim	+ ing, er
red	+ er, est, en	shop	+ ing, er
thin	+ er, est, ish	rob	+ ing, ed, er glad	+ er, est, en	drum	+ ing, ed, er
hot	+ er, est	plot	+ ing, ed, er

(Why are l, r, and t not doubled in the following words?)

con cealed', vig'or ous, ben'e fit ed, par'al leled

Lesson 110.

Direction.—Form derivatives according to the rule. Use the words.

(What part of the rule applies in this lesson that did not in the preceding lesson?)

*quit	+ ing, ed	oc cur'	+ ing, ed	fop	+ ish squat	+ er, ed	re gret	+ ing, ed	clan	+ ish
e quip'	+ ing, ed	ad mit	+ ing, ed	rag	+ ed
ac quit	+ ing, ed	be gin	+ ing, er	for got'	+ en
un fit	+ ing, ed	stir	+ ing, ed	al lot	+ ed
re fer	+ ing, ed	pin	+ ing, ed	star	+ y

* These first four words come under the rule, for ui and ua are not diphthongs; u after q is a consonant = w.

Lesson 111.

Adding Suffixes—Useful Rule.

RULE III.—y after a consonant becomes i before a suffix not beginning with i.

Direction.—Join the suffixes and define as in the "model." Be sure to change y to i.

Model.*—tardier, more tardy; tardiest, most tardy; tardily, in a tardy manner; tardiness, *state of being tardy.

heart'y + er, est, ly, ness
stead y + er, est, ly, ness read y + er, est, ly, ness hap py + er, est, ly, ness
dain ty + er, est, ly, ness heav y + er, est, ly, ness bus'y + er, est, ly, ness
la zy + er, est, ly, ness
wor thy + er, est, ly, ness sau cy + er, est, ly, ness
ti dy + er, est, ly, ness
greed y + er, est, ly, ness

Lesson 112.

Direction.—Join the suffixes and define as above. Be sure to change y to i.

mel'o dy + es, ous
fu ry + es, ous
vic to ry + es, ous
lux u ry + es, ous
cer e mo ny + es, ous
stud y + es, ous
mod'i fy + ed, er, es *
en vy + ed, ous, able, es pit y + ful, less, able, es fan cy + ful, ed, er, es
glo ry + ed, ous, es
cop y + ed, es

(Why is y not changed in the following words?)

mod'i fy ing, en joys', ba'by ish, cop'y ist

To the Teacher.—Let the pupils learn to use these words.

* Instead of defining, put he or it before the verb when es is added; as, it modifies.

Lesson 113.

Review Exercises on Rules I., II., III.

Direction.—Tell why the rule applies or does not apply.

Lesson 114.

†One l or two.

Direction.—Add ing and ed to the following words. Add er to jewel and travel, and or to counsel. Double the final letter, or not, as your teacher may direct.

bar'rel	e'qual	mar'shal	rav'el
can cel	grav el	mar vel	rev el
car ol	jew el	mod el	ri val
chis el	la bel	pen cil	shov el coun sel	lev el	per il	trav el
cud gel	li bel	quar rel	tun nel

* Worcester gives woollen, blassed, kidnapped, worshipper.

† Worcester doubles the l in the derivatives of these words (except perilous), but Webster favors one l. Webster's spelling accords with the analogy of the language, and is, we believe, steadily gaining favor in the United States.

LESSON 119.

The Hare and the Tortoise.—A —— and a —— engaged to run a ——; but the hare, depending on the swiftness of his foot, —— so long in starting that the tortoise reached the ——, and —— the —— through its ——, though slow in its motions.—Fable.

Signs of Weather.—Red —— in the west at sunset, —— when they have a tint of ——, portend fine ——. A —— or yellow sunset generally —— rain. But as an indication of wet weather ——, nothing is more —— than the —— round the moon. When the —— fly high, fine weather is to be expected or continued; but, when they fly close to the ground, rain is —— —— approaching.—Chambers.

LESSON 120.

Exceptions to Rule I.

To the Teacher.—The value of the Rules of Spelling, previously given, will depend much upon the pupil's familiarity with the exceptions. These exceptions are really few when compared with the large number of words controlled by the Rules.

This grouping of words under Rules and Exceptions, if not carried too far, must, on the principles of association, or of comparison and contrast, be a great aid to the memory.

Words ending in ce and ge retain e before able and ous to keep c and g soft. Words in oe and ee retain the e, unless the suffix begins with e. Some words retain e to preserve their identity.

change'a ble	ser'vice a ble	hoe'ing	see'ing
charge a ble	trace a ble	shoe ing	a gree'a ble
man age a ble	ad van ta'geous	toe ing	dye'ing (coloring)
mar riage a ble	cou ra'geous	a gree'ing	singe'ing
no tice a ble	out ra geous	flee'ing	tinge'ing
peace a ble	um bra geous	free ing

Exceptions to Rule I.—Continued.

To the pupil.—It is inferred from Rule I. that final e is not dropped before a consonant, but the following are exceptions.

aw'ful	du'ly	wis dom	lodg'ment
wo ful	tru ly	ar gu ment	a bridg'ment
du ty	whol ly	judg ment	ac knowl edg ment

The following words in le are contracted thus: ab(le)ly = ably.

a'bly	i'dly	gen'tly	peace'a bly
fee bly	sim ply	doub ly	peb bly
hum bly	am ply	grist ly	pos si bly

Lesson 122.

Exceptions to Rule II.

The final consonant is not doubled when, in the derivative, the accent is thrown from the last syllable of the primitive; as, re fer', ref'er ence. But we have ex cel', ex'cel lent, ex'cel lence.

Direction.—Learn to spell and use the following words.

ref'er ence	def'er ence	ref er ee'
pref er ence	in fer ence	ref'er a ble or
con fer ence	pref er a ble	re fer'ri ble

Other exceptions.

gas'es	hum'bugged	crys'tal lize
gas e ous	trans fer'a ble	can cel la'tion

Use.—Without reference to truth; preference for city life; a conference of wise men; a deference to rank; an unfair inference; transferable rights; decision of an impartial referee; gaseous vapors; crystallize in cubes. What is preferable to wisdom?

Lesson 123.

Exceptions to Rule III.

y does not change before 's.

Direction.—Learn to spell and use the following words.

la'dy's, en'e my's, ba'by's, coun'try's.

Other exceptions.*—The last five change y to e.

staid (or stayed)	slain	sly'ness	pit'e ous
paid	dai'ly	shy ly	du te ous
laid	dry ly	shy ness	plen te ous
said	dry ness	la dy ship	beau te ous
saith	sly ly	ba'by hood	boun te ous

Use.—A story dryly told; slyness of a cat; a maiden's shyness; with a piteous look; bounteous Giver of all good.

LESSON 124.

The Plural of Nouns in y.

Nouns in y after a consonant add es, and change y to i according to Rule III.

Direction.—Change the following singular nouns to the plural form.

lil'y	fam'i ly	sto'ry	gro'cer y
mis er y	cher ry	dai ry	*col lo quy
ber ry	dai sy	di a ry	so lil'o quy

Nouns in y after a vowel simply add s.

at tōr'ney	kid'ney	tur'key	don'key
chim'ney	mon key	val ley	mon ey
jour ney	pul ley	vol ley	es say

LESSON 125.

Plural of Nouns in o.

Some nouns in o after a consonant add es and some add s.

Direction.—Add es to the following.

buf'fa lo	em bar'go	mot'to	†por'ti co
cal i co	†grot'to	mos qui'to	po ta'to
car go	he ro	mu lat to	tor na do
ech o	in nu en'do	ne'gro	vol ca no

Direction.—Add s to the following.

can'to	jun'to	pī ā'no	so'lo
†dom i no	las so	pro vi so	two du o dec'i mo	me men'to	quar'to	ty'ro
ha'lo	oc ta vo	sal vo	†ze ro

Nouns in o after a vowel add s; as, cameos, cuckoos, folios, trios.

* u after q is a consonant. † -s or -es.

Lesson 126.

Plural of Nouns in f and fe.

(Change f or fe into ves.)

beef	half	life	sheaf	wharf (or s)
calf	knife	loaf	shelf	wife
elf	leaf	self	thief	wolf

be lief'	dwarf	gulf	reef	scarf
brief	fife	hoof	roof	strife
chief	grief	proof	safe	waif

Lesson 127.

Possessive Form of Nouns.

In the singular add the apostrophe and s ('s) to denote possession; in the plural, the apostrophe only; but if the plural does not end in s, add 's.

Direction.—Copy the following.

(Possessive singular.)

Fanny's doll.	Burns's Poems.
The girl's bonnet.	Brown & Co.'s business.
A dollar's worth.	A day's work.

(Possessive plural.)

Those girls' dresses.	Children's toys.
Men's clothing.	Three years' interest.
Ladies' calls.	Five dollars' worth.

Direction.—Write the possessive of each of the following words, and place after it the name of the thing possessed.

Woman, women; mouse, mice; buffalo, buffaloes; fairy, fairies; hero, heroes; baby, babies; calf, calves.

Lesson 128.

Compound Words.

Without hyphen.		With hyphen.
numskull	wherever	heart's-ease	forty-two daybreak	whereabouts	two-wheeled	gray-haired brakeman	elsewhere	long-legged	half-past eyesight	anybody	emerald-green	thorough-bred
iceberg	everything	vice-president	major-general
threadbare	railway	postal-card	post-office
greensward	nowadays	bird's-eye	hair-breadth

To the pupil.—There is lack of uniformity in the use of the hyphen. When the simple words of the compound seem to lose their individual force and fuse into one general term, the hyphen is dropped.

In the dictionaries the hyphens between the parts of compound words are distinguished from those that separate syllables by being made heavier or longer, thus: half-pen-ny, or half–pen-ny.

Lesson 129.

Spelling and Pronunciation.

To the pupil.—The first eight nouns in this lesson are the only words, according to Webster, in which the aspirate th in the singular is changed to the vocal th in the plural; but there is very good usage for truths and sheaths.

* Adjective or verb.

It is very —— that the —— ——, though they had not the gospel to —— their ——, seem to have regarded these insect changes as —— that which they —— themselves to ——. We are told that, on some of their gravestones which have been dug up in —— years, the —— of the butterfly is found —— as a fit —— of the ——, and as an —— that it would one day come —— again under a new form, and in a new —— of ——.—Turner.

Lesson 137.

Direction.—Copy the following, and study the italicized words.

Cleanliness.—The skin is one means of getting rid of impure, refuse matter from the blood. For this purpose it is supplied with two or three millions of small tubes, called pores, through which it sweats out the superfluous moisture. These pores also regulate the temperature of the body. When the body becomes overheated from violent exercise or exposure to fire, it is flooded with perspiration, and so is cooled down.

Now, if the pores become blocked up with dirt, they cannot perform their functions. In that case, either the skin itself will become diseased, or the blood will be injured by being forced to retain its impurities. Washing the skin is therefore indispensable to health.

Word-Analysis and Word-Building.

To the pupil.—A change in the application of the words of our language is constantly going on, and in this the metaphor plays an important part.

From some real or fancied likeness of two things, a term belonging to the one is carried over to the other, and this metaphorical use often comes to be the common use of the word.

You can now see how the word polite, which originally meant polished, came to have its present use. We should not now think of speaking of polite metal, but we may use polished literally, and say polished metal, or metaphorically, and say polished manners.

Many interesting facts will come to light in following up the line which connects the present, or current, meaning of a word with the original, and those fond of exploration and discovery will find these exercises a diversion rather than a task.

Lesson 256.

Direction.—The prefixes and suffixes below are printed in Italic and the roots in black letters. Search these parts out from the Reference Lists in the back part of the book, combine them, give the literal meaning of each word, and trace its relation to the current meaning as here illustrated. Give and explain as many other uses as possible. Two roots will sometimes be found in one derivative. You are not to look up the letters inclosed within marks of parenthesis.

A Text-Book on English Literature,

With copious extracts from the leading authors, English and American. With full Instructions as to the Method in which these are to be studied. Adapted for use in Colleges, High Schools, Academies, etc. By BRAINERD KELLOGG, A.M., Professor of the English Language and Literature in the Brooklyn Collegiate and Polytechnic Institute, Author of a "Text-Book on Rhetoric," and one of the Authors of Reed & Kellogg's "Graded Lessons in English," and "Higher Lessons in English." Handsomely printed. 12mo, 478 pp.

The Book is divided into the following Periods:

Period I.—Before the Norman Conquest, 670–1066. Period II.—From the Conquest to Chaucer's death, 1066–1400. Period III.—From Chaucer's death to Elizabeth, 1400–1558. Period IV.—Elizabeth's reign, 1558–1603. Period V.—From Elizabeth's death to the Restoration, 1603–1660. Period VI.—From the Restoration to Swift's death, 1660–1745. Period VII.—From Swift's death to the French Revolution, 1745–1789. Period VIII.—From the French Revolution, 1789, onwards.

Each Period is preceded by a Lesson containing a brief resumé of the great historical events that have had somewhat to do in shaping or in coloring the literature of that period.

The author aims in this book to furnish the pupil that which he cannot help himself to. It groups the authors so that their places in the line and their relations to each other can be seen by the pupil; it throws light upon the authors' times and surroundings, and notes the great influences at work, helping to make their writings what they are; it points out such of these as should be studied.

Extracts, as many and as ample as the limits of a text-book would allow, have been made from the principal writers of each Period. Such are selected as contain the characteristic traits of their authors, both in thought and expression, and but few of these extracts have ever seen the light in books of selections—none of them have been worn threadbare by use, or have lost their freshness by the pupil's familiarity with them in the school readers.

It teaches the pupil how the selections are to be studied, soliciting and exacting his judgment at every step of the way which leads from the author's diction up through his style and thought to the author himself, and in many other ways it places the pupil on the best possible footing with the authors whose acquaintance it is his business, as well as his pleasure, to make.

Short estimates of the leading authors, made by the best English and American critics, have been inserted, most of them contemporary with us.

The author has endeavored to make a practical, common-sense text-book: one that would so educate the student that he would know and enjoy good literature.

"I find the book in its treatment of English literature superior to any other I have examined. Its main feature, which should be the leading one of all similar books, is that it is a means to an end, simply a guide-book to the study of English literature. Too many students in the past have studied, not the literature of the English language, but some author's opinion of that literature. I know from experience that your method of treatment will prove an eminently successful one."—James H. Shults, Prin. of the West High School, Cleveland, O.

A TEXT-BOOK ON RHETORI

SUPPLEMENTING THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE SCIENCE WITH EXHAUSTIVE PRACTICE IN COMPOSITION.

A Course of Practical Lessons Adapted for use in High Schools an Academies, and in the Lower Classes of Colleges.

BY

BRAINERD KELLOGG, A.M.,

Professor of the English Language and Literature in the Brooklyn Collegiate and Polytechnic Institute, and one of the authors of Reed & Kellogg's "Graded Lessons in English" and "Higher Lessons in English."

In preparing this work upon Rhetoric, the author's aim has been to write a practical text-book for High Schools, Academies, and the lower classes of Colleges, based upon the science rather than an exhaustive treatise upon the science itself.

This work has grown up out of the belief that the rhetoric which the pupil needs is not that which lodges finally in the memory, but that which has worked its way down into his tongue and fingers, enabling him to speak and write the better for having studied it. The author believes that the aim of the study should be to put the pupil in possession of an art, and that this can be done not by forcing the science into him through eye and ear, but by drawing it out of him, in products, through tongue and pen. Hence all explanations of principles are followed by exhaustive practice in Composition—to this everything is made tributary.

"KELLOGG'S RHETORIC is evidently the fruit of scholarship and large experience. The author has collected his own materials, and disposed of them with the skill of a master; his statements are precise, lucid, and sufficiently copious. Nothing is sacrificed to show; the book is intended for use, and the abundance of examples will constitute one of its chief merits in the eyes of the thorough teacher."—Prof. A. S. Cook, Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md.

"This is just the work to take the place of the much-stilted 'Sentential Analysis' that is being waded through to little purpose by the Grammar and High School pupils of our country. This work not only teaches the discipline of analyzing thought, but leads the student to feel that it is his thought that is being dealt with, dissected, and unfolded, to efficient expression."—Prof. G. S. Albee, Prest. of State Normal School, Oshkosh, Wis.

276 pages, 12mo, attractively bound in cloth.
